

ABOUT

TOWNS

How transport can help towns thrive

Putting towns on the map, connecting to wider economy & labour markets

Meeting housing demand through transit oriented development

Promoting health and wellbeing through active travel & healthy streets

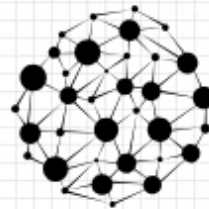

Opening up access to opportunity

Drawing in investment through good connections & attractive urban realm

Transport sector as anchor institution, part of - & investing in - the community

Joining the dots with other policy areas for maximum impact (e.g. locating new colleges next to transport hubs)

Enhancing civic pride & identity through new/transformed transport infrastructure

Read the full report at urbantransportgroup.org

"Transport has always been critical to the success of towns."

